The 1960

Foreword

Today patterns tomorrow. Today's youth pattern America's future. Realizing that the moment has come to take up a new role, we should examine ourselves to determine how much we have grown during this past year of high school.

As our experience at P.B.H.S. comes to an end, we may ascertain the value of the past. The tools of knowledge and education which we have acquired and our principles of living and mode of personality will help determine our future endeavors.

As we focus our thoughts back several years, we realize that from each experience we have gained something which has added to our storehouse of knowledge. Knowledge, understanding, and experience will help us become better citizens in our democratic society.

We stand upon a pinnacle looking toward new challenges. The future that lies ahead is promising in this - the age of progress and the land of opportunity.

Dedication

. . . . because as administrator and friend, you have guided and understood us because, through your professional excellence, you have become an inseparable part of our beloved P.B.H.S. and thus, because Senior High will always mean more to us for your having been identified with it . . . we, The Bluff Staff, inscribe with your name this record of our life at Poplar Bluff High School in 1960, as a lasting mark of our deep respect for you---

Mr. George R. Loughhead
Superintendent of Schools
1926-1960

Mr. George R. Loughhead

Board of Education

FRED M. MORROW

Fred M. Morrow has been appointed to the position of City Superintendent of Schools, effective July 1. Formerly County Superintendent, Mr. Morrow has for the past few months been assisting the present superintendent, George R. Loughhead, who will retire June 30.

We pass this way but once. Each second, each minute, or each hour can never be recalled.

To be loved and appreciated we must give service to others. To get something out of life each day, we must give something to life as we journey toward success and security in a world of aspirations and opportunities. Use to the greatest extent possible, your talents to become stronger individuals---physically, mentally, socially, and spiritually.

*Sincerely yours,
E. T. Peters*

Mathematics, Biology

Professional education in mathematics becomes increasingly important with every development in our scientific world. Poplar Bluff High School offers an education in math which emphasizes the essentials and methods of applying them to meet the needs of society. Concurrently it stresses ability to think clearly, to solve problems, and to plan effectively.

Our math department hopes to serve its students by relating theory to practical experiences.

Science... A New Decade, A New Concept

Science is one of the major activities of our minds as it resembles art, religion, and philosophy. Science may be regarded as a mood in which we consider our world. No man is always in the same mood, and no man of science remains permanently in the scientific mood.

Basically, science is a search for judgments to which universal agreement may be obtained by those who understand the judgments and their bases. It is a search that never ends and is never satisfied.

Fine Arts... Brightening the Future Through Creative Minds

The high school campus is the home of America's greatest natural resource.....the young people. One day the ore of the earth may be exhausted and synthetics will take over, but there is no substitute for the human mind. Our educational system strives to cover all phases of learning; in doing so it has developed a fine arts branch which is appealing to the imagination. P.B.H.S. offers art for the creative mind, speech and foreign language for practical application, and an extensive music program. We, the eyes of tomorrow, look toward a horizon of science paralleled with culture.

Always the only really successful method of learning a new skill or technique has been by experience. With this fact in mind the Industrial Arts Department of Poplar Bluff High School has set up its curriculum so that each student does actual supervised work on problems similar to those found in modern industry. "He profits most who serves best." With every passing year competition in the business world becomes greater. The commercial department is designed to fulfill these educational needs.

Beginning typists laborously practice the exercises which eventually become a skill. The advanced students learn that typing with an electric IBM machine isn't as "easy as it looks."

Would-be-bookkeepers find out that balancing a set of books demands your best mathematical talents. Meaningless scrawls slowly become recognizable words for the shorthand students as they take dictation.

It's a fascinating department in which capable teachers seek to challenge the students to meet the personal and social problems of living.

Editor's Message

The CLASS OF 1960 will be remembered as the first class to have had three complete years in the new Senior High. We were new to high school when the Senior High building was new to the community.

These three years have portrayed a busy world of students seeking to learn thoughts of masters and pondering within themselves the ideas of things to come...a center where the traditional and modern meet to CHALLENGE individuals to enter paths of creative thought.

Our P.B.H.S. is an abstract, a spirit, a force, which becomes personal only as we come to know the people who comprise it and as we learn what they think and do. In this book we have attempted to capture the growth and life of our high school and the individuals who have passed through its doors and have met its CHALLENGE in this year of 1960.

Dear Miss Stanard:

You certainly presented our Committee of artists with a difficult task in selecting your Yearbook Queen. We have never seen a more beautiful group of young girls, but the Committee did come to a unanimous choice in each instance.

To each of the girls will you please extend our very best wishes, and we especially want to congratulate the young beauties who rated the four top places.

We do regret that each and every one of the girls could not have been the winner, but to all the very best of luck, long life and happiness.

"Bluff 1960 must surpass all others!" This was the cry of the staff over clacking typewriters, ringing phones, and snapping yardsticks. But, oh, what sweet memories we have of those days when room 16 became our home; the many nights spent in the depths of that room; phone calls from home asking if we were still alive and if we needed money. (We said no we weren't alive but send the money anyway.)

We racked our brains, but through tears, hysterical laughter, worry, and threats, the deadlines were met. Thus was produced this book--your book---"The 1960 Bluff."

Football is the very spirit of fall at P.B.H.S. The vibrant maroon and white uniforms of the players, the flashing batons of the majorettes, the graceful leaps of the cheerleaders, and the spirited yells of the students all blend with the stirring music of the band to bring back colorful memories to the minds of the old grads and a sense of loyalty to the students of today. A car parade made its way around the track. Queen Kathy Morrison and her Maids of Honor, Vera Harris and Jamie McWilliams were escorted to the center of the field and proclaimed the reigning royalty of the 1959 Football Homecoming.

*Our Artist
Painted the Year

September came with a rush...a real rush to some, but for others it wasn't soon enough. Nevertheless, we managed to accustom ourselves to the new seven-hour day, the 8:05 tardy bell, the endless homework, and in no time were right in the swing of things.

With class meetings, which meant election of officers...that first assembly...plus the "reserved" seats for seniors...the beginning of football season, our first month of school soon flew by.

By October we were well under way. The excitement of the year's newness gave way to more important activities...organization of clubs...the always hectic initiations... a two day vacation for teacher's meeting. With all these functions, we still continued to study so that we could make those grades and finish out our second month.

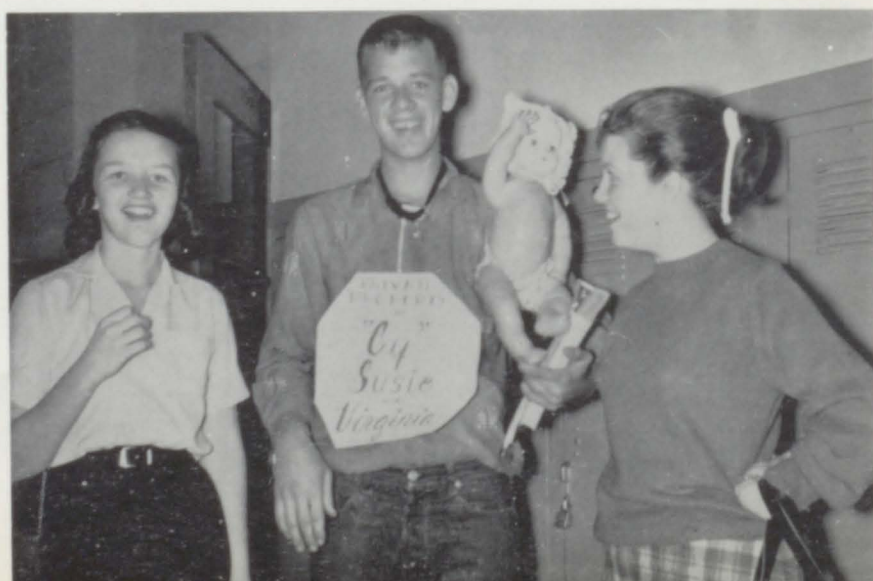

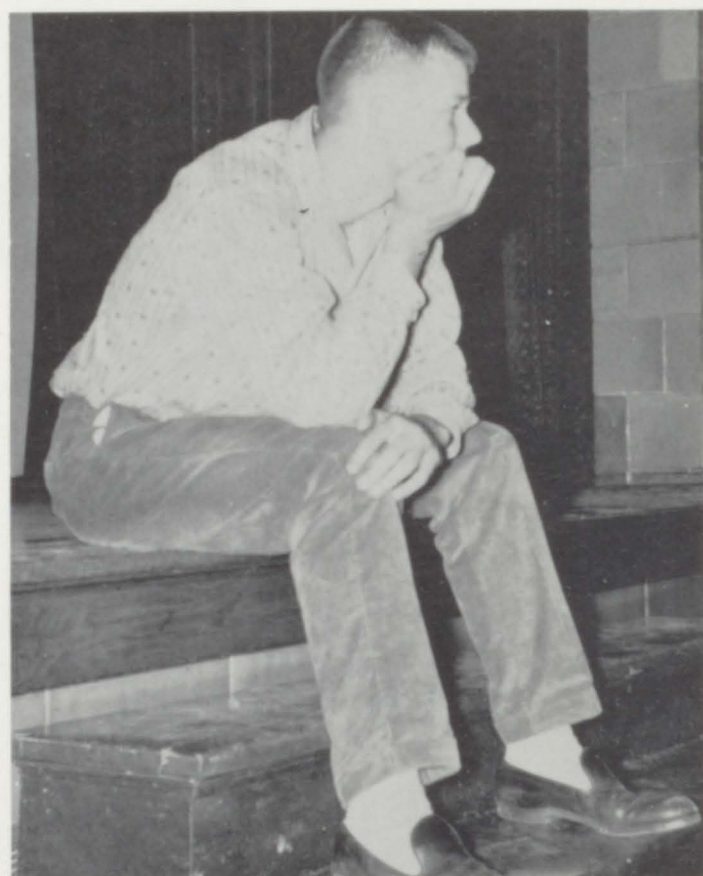

November came, bringing with it an extra vacation...the sophomore "Slave Day"...the Student Talent assembly...the senior volleyball game...the Dramatics Club play.

Even those activities did not daunt our excitement of the pre-Christmas season.

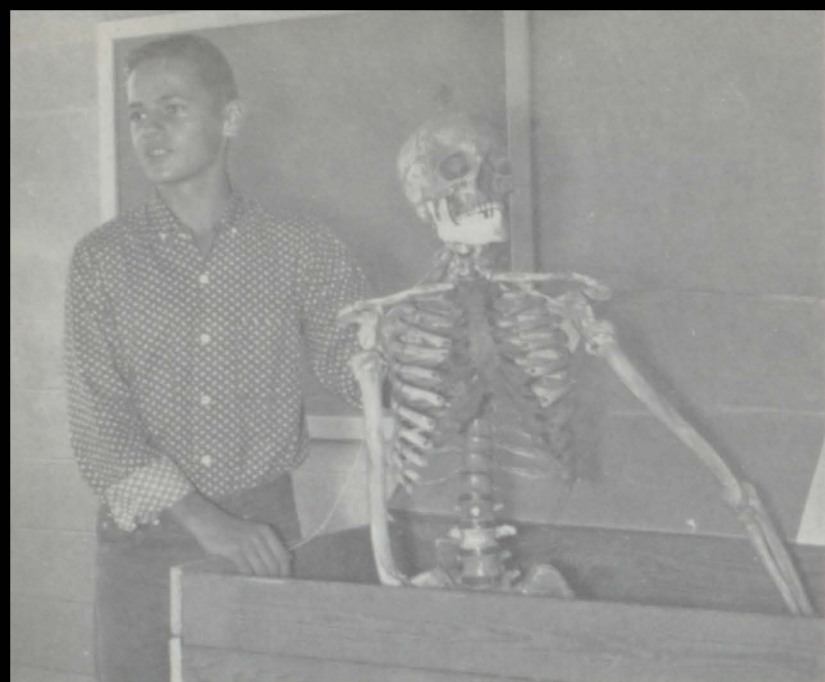

December at last! And with it two full weeks of awaited vacation. The ending semester pushed assignments up, but we still managed to work in a Christmas Dance...staff party...Sadie Hawkins Day...musical assembly...Christmas play.

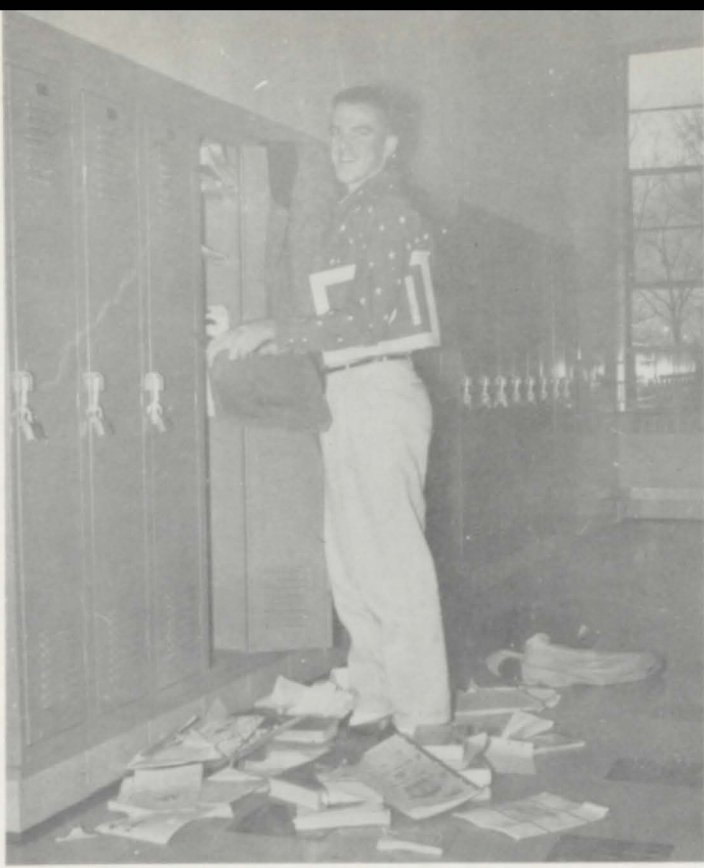

All of the excitement soon brought our much needed vacation and the end of 1959.

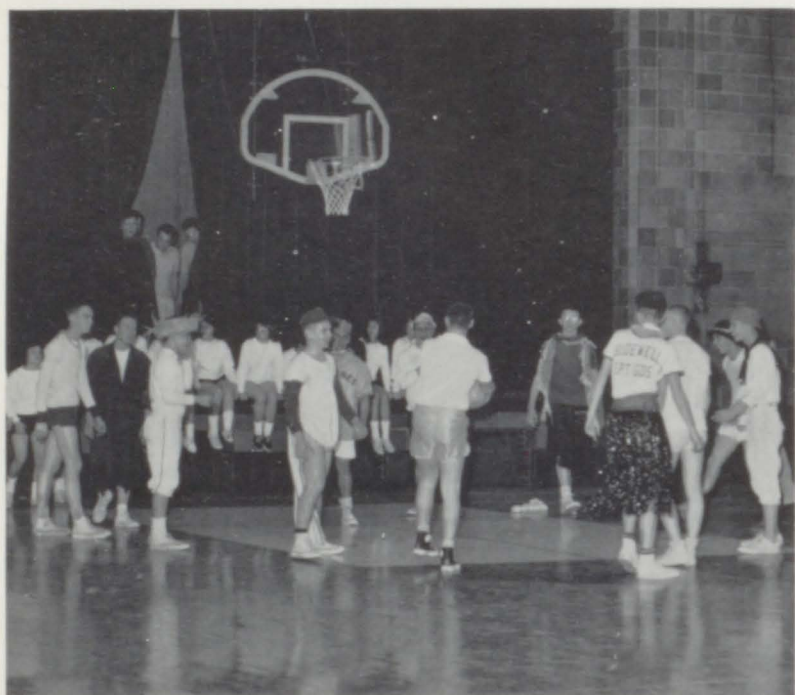

With no real excitement to look for, we returned to a new year ready for those exams and really "hitting the books." Even though the end of the semester was the important factor, we still found time to back our basketball team to victories...get our senior rings...hold assemblies...go to parties. Soon January was just a memory.

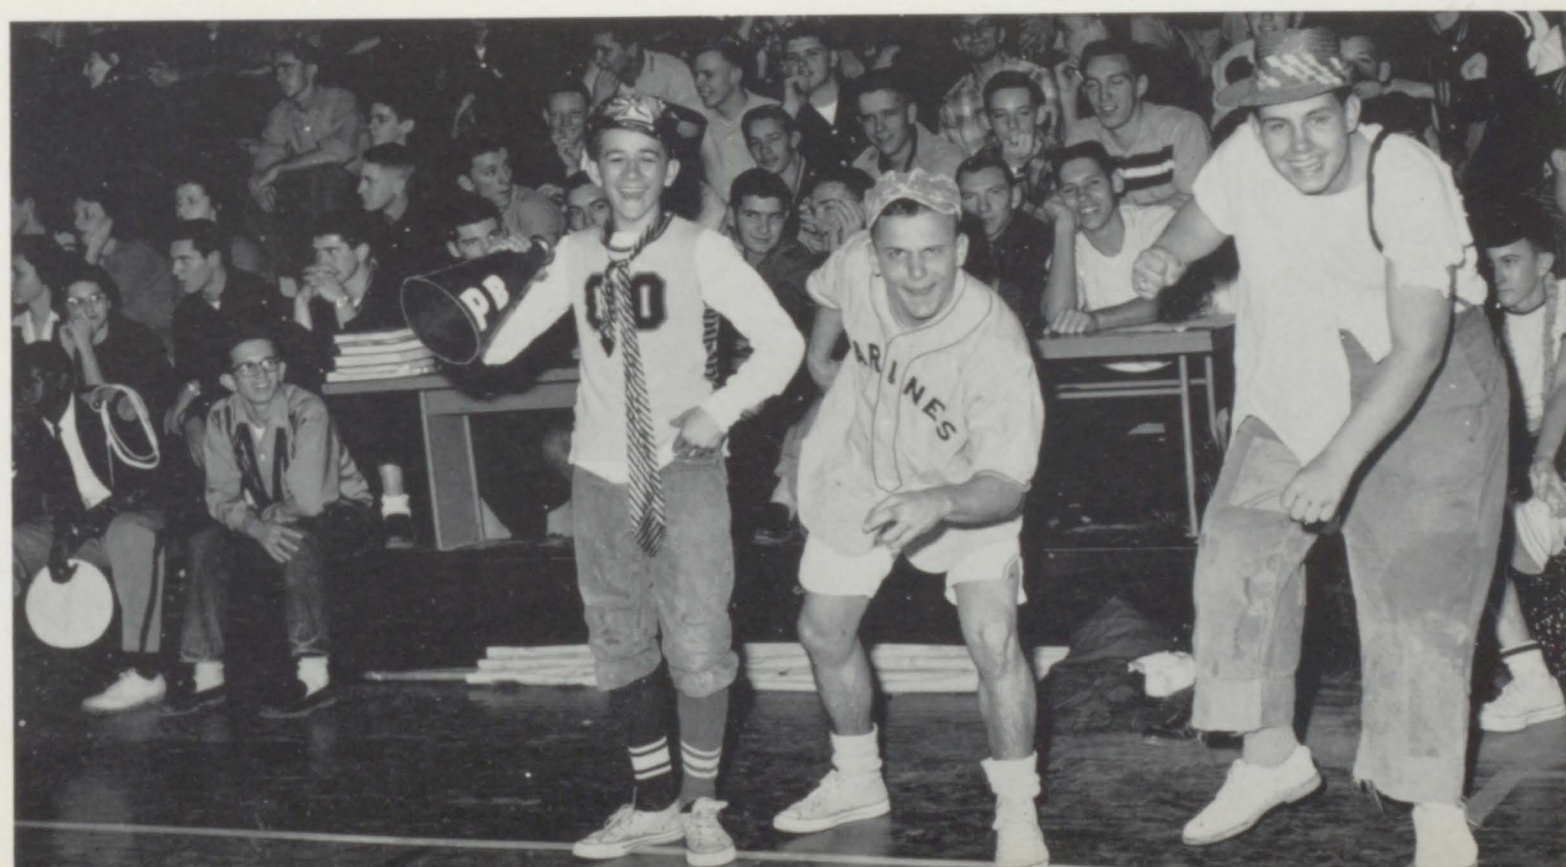

As February arrived, our first thoughts were of the basketball homecoming...the Valentine Dance...banquets...Twirp Season...and last but not least, the completion of our yearbook for the printers. But as February drew to a close, we suddenly realized that two-thirds of our school year was over.

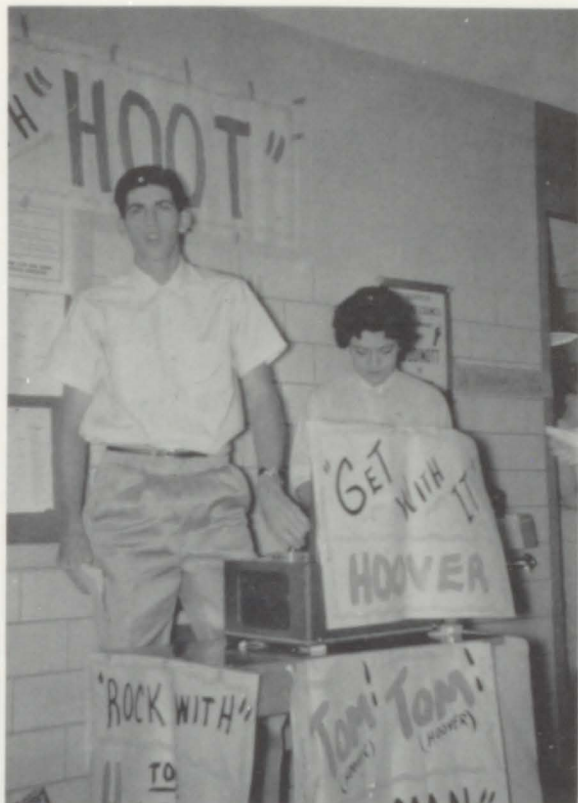

As the March winds blew, we suddenly realized it was spring. "Spring fever" seemed to make our daily assignments grow larger and larger. Our minds wandered to track meets...state basketball tournaments...and invariably to summer vacation. Even so, we worked hard as we knew that much excitement was to come.

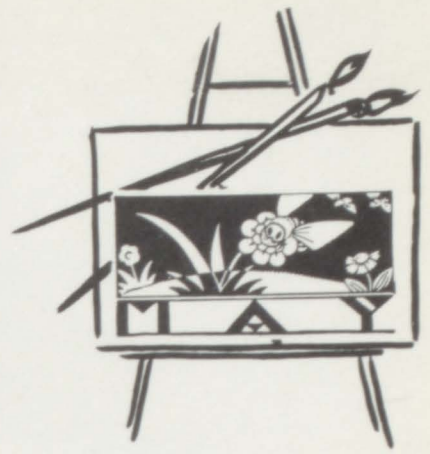

While the last plans for the end of school got underway, everyone began to realize that a wonderful year was about over. April was the time for planning the Spring Prom...attending spring contests... Senior banquet...wondering who was chosen '60 Bluff Queen. We suddenly realized that summer was just around the corner.

Although it seemed impossible that nine months had passed so swiftly since we first wandered into the halls of P.B.H.S., we realized that it had been a full year and one long to remember.

When we look back on all the classes we attended... homework...club meetings...dances...class projects accomplished...then we knew why the time had flown.

May was filled with activity...Junior-Senior Prom... picnics...exams...commencement. Even all those activities left us a little sad. The Seniors left early...lockers were emptied and the halls seemed less crowded than before. We saw the remaining days of 1959-60 come to a close, and for those "upperclassmen," the close of P.B.H.S.

I am the STADIUM. All the students who have passed through the doors of the school have seen me, but did not realize what I have seen of them. They have walked about the campus, laughing and shouting in the glee of youth, for the sheer joy of being alive. I have seen them sad and dejected after losing the big game. How many bands have marched down the turf as I looked! I am no longer young, but I hold memories . . . and I shall keep these memories.

I am the GYMNASIUM, I hold the Spirit of Competition that lives in the hearts of youth every where, giving them the desire to excel in all their endeavors. Many teams have been represented here on the hardwood. The students of the school have cheered and supported their team while winning or losing. There have been many competitive contests here. . . where youth has matured through fair play. I have memories of all this and I shall cherish them.

Feeling Oneness With The Universe...

LE CERCLE FRANCAISE

Now, as never before, there is a need to understand other peoples and to evaluate their ways of living and thinking. Language provides this insight; an organization whose intent is to utilize French through the contributions made by France to the heritage of the modern world in such fields as literature, folklore, history and music is Le Cercle Francaise. Understanding both the language and the people becomes the gateway to French. Meetings of the club carry out this idea through the use of games and French conversations.

Through their home-farm projects, the members of the FFA are learning the scientific methods employed by modern farmers to enable them to greatly increase the yield of the land. Utilizing Talents And Abilities...

PROJECTORS' CLUB

Fulfilling its desire to serve others, the Projectors Club puts the talents of its members to work operating the complicated equipment of P.B.H.S.'s Audio-Visual Teaching Aids program. These aids include such apparatus as tape recorders and movie projectors which require too much attention in their operation for the teacher to operate them and still be able to devote the proper amount of time to his class. The members of the Projectors Club are well trained in the use of this equipment and are able to operate it in such a way as to gain the most educational benefit for themselves and their fellow students.

While this club engages in a very business-like activity, it also has a lighter side in the various social events it sponsors during the school year.

MULETTES

Strongest traditions are those imbedded in years of existence, and spirit is a tradition which has existed since the first school was established. Spirit cannot be bought or produced synthetically; it comes from within a group to administer victory or defeat. The Mullettes are the leaders of our school spirit, blending into one group producing loud, continuous shouts to back our team and to lead them to another victory. Rain or storm has failed to dampen the outstanding spirit; they have developed an unsurpassed degree of sportsmanship that has added much pride to the athletic division of our school.

Opportunity Through Experience...

Man must strive to attain an education in how to handle people, how to think, and how to produce ideas. A knowledge of life and people aids tomorrow's community leaders in achieving cooperation generated by leadership. The Key Club, an international organization, is sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and its purpose is to stress three ideals -- leadership, service, and initiative. Key Club is valuable in molding young men into good citizens.

Music, the Universal Language, is communicated beautifully by the Girls' Chorus of P.B.H.S. MIXED VOICES

There are many phases of beautiful music but when a group of male and female voices with parts adapted and proportioned to each other produce harmony, true beauty has become sound. Mixed Chorus is marked by harmony of feeling or of sound and thus projects much fine entertainment.

Officers: Jackie Kimberlin, President; Eudell Myers, Vice-President; Judy Anspach, Secretary-Treasurer; Sue Sanner, Reporter

Once upon a time, there existed in the city of Poplar Bluff, a high school BAND. This fine group of musicians combined their talents to produce a most majestic sound. From the months of September to May, this sound issued forth from all parts of the community, providing entertainment for all.

It began with marching practice, weeks before school opened, with Sophomores scattered far and wide, lagging behind, and suddenly noticing that the majority of the BAND was at the other end of the field. Then came basketball season and the PEP BAND. "Sweet Georgia Brown" was the most requested number and as its "prissy" effect reached the ears of the basketball boys, a few more round balls sank into the basket. The gym resounded with our own "Loyalty" as the BAND again contributed to high school remembrances. As months passed, concert season came upon our musicians. Horns were checked, new reeds bought and slides cleaned. They tried to soften the volume and tighten their embouchure, and realized that control and practice were needed. The first concert, however, proved that our CONCERT BAND could work wonders. As the members of the audience received the one hundred and seven piece group and listened to the varied types of music being so ably produced, they began to realize how much work was put into such an organization: work that was enjoyed by students, director, and finally you.

Thus, we have reached the end of our story -- a year in which the BAND has played such an important role.

Dear Reader:

We WELCOME you to visit Poplar Bluff. We are proud of "Our Town" and we are proud of its traditions, its progress, its friendly atmosphere, but most of all we are proud of its business establishments.

Since the first yearbook was published in 1921, the businessmen of Poplar Bluff have earned a reputation for backing our schools. This year was no exception and the 1960 staff of "The Bluff" expresses its thanks to the loyal supporters who made this publication possible.

THE BLUFF STAFF

Congratulations
